

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Connection of speakers to an electronic apparatus fitted with a plurality of audio signal output terminals independent of the number of audio-signal output channels

5 very easily and discernibly.

A plurality of audio signal output terminals corresponding to individual channels of an audio-signal output apparatus are respectively disposed in correspondence with actual positions of a plurality of 10 speakers disposed in correspondence with plural channels. Those audio signal output terminals provided for plural channels of the audio signal output apparatus are arranged to enable an user to discern individual audio signal output terminals by the color added thereto.

15 Likewise, connecting cables are also provided with specific coloration corresponding to specific colors provided for individual audio signal output terminals.